

The product of two successive integers is 72.

Determine these two numbers.

What would the answer be if the question was worded like this:
“The product of two successive whole numbers is 72.”